

BIOGRAPHY

Jason Blake is a Warr guitarist from Chicago, Illinois. The Warr Guitar is a twelve-string instrument incorporating the range of a guitar and bass. It is played by tapping the strings, a technique known as touch style guitar. In this setting, Jason typically uses his semi-hollow acoustic version of the instrument.

For his solo work, Jason has composed an assortment of instrumental material aimed to be catchy, relaxing, and the perfect accompaniment to any event or space. Coupled with instrumental versions of some classic songs, his set has earned him regular appearances at different venues around the Midwest. This music works perfectly in any setting such as coffee houses, breweries, restaurants or festivals.

Radiant Dusk and its accompanying EP, Seemingly Quixotic, showcase this intimate style of touch guitar evoking a more folky, jazzy side of Jason's playing.
